About the conference

The Employment Rights Act has been hailed as the biggest piece of trade-union legislation in a generation, but critics say it does not go far enough. In this timely seminar IER Expert Professor Nicola Countouris will provide an analysis of the Employment Rights Act and the importance of creating a single worker status for a labour law that works for the 21st century.

Thompsons solicitors and Morrish solicitors will look at the practical implications of the Employment Rights Act.

Mark Fairhurst National Chair of the Prison Officers Association will discuss the importance of the right to strike and how still after the Employment Rights Act 2025 the UK has one of the most restrictive regimes on the matter.

Not to be missed by trade-unionists, campaigners, students and legal practitioners. With ample time for questions and discussion. Please be aware our employment-law updates sell out very quickly, so book your seat in good time to avoid disappointment.

WHO SHOULD ATTEND

Trade unionists, employment lawyers working in support of trade unions, and academics and students with an interest in industrial relations and labour law.

HOW TO GET THERE

Five minutes' walk from Lime Street Station (National rail and Merseyrail).

CPD ACCREDITATION

All IER seminars and conferences attract credit hours under the Law Society's Continuing Development Scheme and the General Council of the Bar's New Practitioners' Programme and Established Practitioners' Programme. Delegates requiring CPD points may be charged an additional administration fee of £10 to cover our costs.

ADDITIONAL INFORMATION

Name changes are accepted up until the time of the event. Delegates who advise IER of their cancellation more than 15 working days in advance will receive a credit note with 10% deduction for administration.
